

INTEGRATED SERVICE SOLUTIONS

Every company and every project is unique, and this is why no two integrated service solutions are alike. Our tailored solutions meet your specific needs, from improving performance in one specific area to managing entire supply chains.

It is the nature of large-scale capital expenditure projects that complications could arise anywhere along the supply chain and at any stage of the project life cycle. Safety and quality are major concerns, and managing these at each phase – planning, design, procurement, site construction and subsequent maintenance – calls for an integrated approach to project management.

Every project is distinct, and their safe, successful completion demands input from a diverse range of disciplines. Projects can also be geographically diverse with complex international supply chains. This diversity makes an integrated approach to project management both challenging and essential.

In response to these requirements, integrated services solutions provide tailored packages of services designed to support and manage safety and quality at all stages of the project lifecycle.

As a leading provider of technical services for a wide variety of industries, you can rely on Intertek to deliver expert integrated solutions. We can help optimise the engineering and technical aspects of every phase of your project, including planning, design, procurement, site construction and maintenance.

Solutions may include health and safety support and consultancy, procurement support and vendor inspection services, expediting, technical auditing and a host of other services designed to ensure the safety, quality and efficiency of your project.

We take a strategic approach to planning support and management services, with the aim of providing sustainable solutions that deliver long-term benefits.

Benefit from our global supplier knowledge for more cost effective procurement, utilise our staffing services to manage fluctuating technical personnel requirements, or take advantage of our global operations to work with local experts familiar with your operating centers.

While every solution is different, with our support you will be able to boost efficiency, increase quality and reduce costs.
